

MEMBER CODE OF CONDUCT

Our Standard

Wrench Club exists because working on your own car shouldn't require a dealership invoice or a friend with a lift. This is a community built on a shared space, shared tools, shared knowledge, and mutual respect. Keep that in mind every time you walk through the door.

Safety First

- Personal protective equipment is non-negotiable. Safety glasses must be worn any time work is being performed in the bay area. Gloves, hearing protection, and appropriate footwear are strongly encouraged.
- Never work under a vehicle supported only by a floor jack. Jack stands are required. Period.
- Know your limits. If you're not confident in a procedure, ask. We'd rather you spend ten minutes talking it through than spend an hour dealing with the consequences of getting it wrong.
- No impairment. Alcohol and recreational substances are not permitted during active work sessions. Events featuring alcohol are governed by separate event policies.
- Report hazards immediately. Spills, equipment malfunctions, or unsafe conditions should be reported to staff or a fellow member right away — don't assume someone else will handle it.

Respect the Space

- Clean up after yourself. Wipe down surfaces, return tools to their proper location, and dispose of fluids and materials according to posted guidelines. You borrowed the space; leave it better than you found it.
- Fluids go in the designated containers. Nothing goes down the drain. Improper fluid disposal is grounds for immediate membership revocation.
- No modifications to shop equipment without authorization. If something's broken or in need of adjustment, tell us, don't improvise.
- Be mindful of time. Respect your reserved bay time. If you're running over, communicate with staff early.

Respect Each Other

Everyone starts somewhere. Wrench Club is built for members across every skill level. Condescension and gatekeeping aren't welcome here.

Offer help; don't impose it. If someone looks stuck, it's great to offer — but take no for an answer. Not everyone wants advice mid-job, and that's their call to make.

Harassment won't be tolerated. That includes behavior targeting gender, race, age, experience level, or anything else.

If you've got a conflict, bring it to staff. Don't let it boil over in the shop.

Respect the Community

Wrench Club's reputation is a shared asset, and it's fragile in the way that all reputations are. Every member carries it with them, whether they're in the shop, at a Wrench Club event, or just parked somewhere with a sticker on their bumper.

We love cars. We love enthusiast culture. We also know that a segment of that culture has a bad habit of making headlines for the wrong reasons — and we're not interested in being associated with any of it.

- Anti-social driving behavior reflects on all of us. Burnouts, street takeovers, street racing, aggressive driving near Wrench Club events or property. These aren't just dangerous, they're the kind of thing that gets facilities like ours shut down and gives every car enthusiast a black eye. Don't do it.
- At Wrench Club events, conduct yourself accordingly. These gatherings are an extension of the membership, and how you behave there shapes how the public, our neighbors, and local officials see us. We've worked hard to build goodwill in this community, and it's not worth torching over thirty seconds of tire smoke.
- On social media, use your judgment. We're not going to tell you what to post, but if Wrench Club's name, logo, or location is visible in content that involves illegal or reckless behavior, we'll have a conversation, and it may not end well for your membership.
- If you see something, say something. If a member is behaving in a way that puts the community, or the club, at risk, you're not a snitch for flagging it. You're protecting something we all have a stake in.

This isn't about being uptight. It's about protecting access for you, for every other member, and for whoever joins after you.

Respect the Tools and Equipment

- Use tools for their intended purpose. Improvising with shop equipment is how tools, and people, get hurt.
 - Report damage immediately. Accidents happen. What matters is that you tell us. Members who damage equipment and don't report it will face suspension or revocation.
 - No personal tool storage without authorization. Don't leave personal items in the shop unless you have an approved arrangement.

Guest Policy

- Members are responsible for their guests. Anyone you bring into the space is your responsibility. They are subject to this Code of Conduct, and their behavior reflects on your membership.
 - Guests must be accompanied by members at all times. No drop-offs.

Violations of this Code of Conduct may result in:

- 1. A verbal or written warning
- 2. Suspension of bay access
- 3. Termination of membership without refund

Wrench Club reserves the right to remove any member immediately for serious violations involving safety, harassment, or willful damage to property.
